The Lost Star, poetess, singer, performer, is an artist sensitive to the troubling times that surround us. She delivers her latest title “Liberty” to share a message : wake-up and feel free to question what is happening... respect and protect our freedoms.

In the turmoil that we are now experiencing, the song Liberty is about the power of expression, the power of being true to oneself, the power of individuality, and the power of uniting together. The song Liberty is a cry, an awakening, a call to question, a call to fight for our freedoms. The Lost Star sings, raps, cries out her concerns about today’s world.

We are living out today times that we had never imagined. The world brutally confronted with new challenges facing every level of society. “There’s no shopping in the mall, the wolves are back in town. The writings on the wall, The world is upside down” “New norms trending, our rights are ending... Freedom or bondage, darkness or light”...

The Lost Star expresses her deep concern to be vigilant to protect our treasured freedoms that have been fought for. “Freedom has been the universal cry throughout the ages. It is not about politics. Freedom is an ideal, a value and a divine right for all beings on earth.

The refrain of the song “Liberty” underlines the key message :

We were created to be free... We were born for liberty

Be free... Liberty

Know yourself that is the key... To your true identity

Be free... Liberty

And the song finishes with the cry : Freedom is not free, Let’s defend our liberty
